5 DESTINATIONS TO EXPERIENCE IN 2024

PARIS 2024

Paris, France Summer Olympics

No matter how many times you visit, there is always something new to discover in the City of Light.

As host of the Summer Olympics 2024, Paris will offer travellers a different perspective. The event is a celebration of not only sports, but also the city, with landmarks transformed for the occasion.

Ticket holders can watch competitions at the Grand Palais, while the Champ-de-Mars, a park at the foot of the Eiffel Tower, will become a temporary outdoor arena.

From grand historic hotels such as Le Bristol to chic boutique boltholes like Hotel Dame des Arts, a member of Preferred Hotels & Resorts, there is no shortage of stylish places to stay.

One to bookmark? La Fondation, a hotel by design firm Roman and Williams, opening later in the year in the 17th arrondissement.

2 Bhutan

Slow travel, lower tourist tax

Slow-travel enthusiasts the world over know this. It is not only about where you go, but also how you travel. And if there is one destination that embodies the ethos of slow travel, it is Bhutan.

The Himalayan kingdom has always been a bit hard to reach, and is best enjoyed at a leisurely pace, which is partly its appeal.

If you have always wanted to hike to its Tiger's Nest monastery or revel in its serene valleys, now is the time. In September, Bhutan halved its Sustainable Development Fee tourist tax to US$100 (S$132) a day – a move that will remain for the next four years.

There is also a fresh crop of five-star hotels to choose from, including &Beyond Punakha River Lodge, Zhiwa Ling Heritage and Pemako Punakha.

Perfect moments, always

Costa Rica

Eco-adventure for families

A destination that is sustainable, adventure-filled and family-friendly does not usually come in one package, but that is exactly what Costa Rica offers.

Voted Destination of the Year 2024 by Travel + Leisure US magazine, this small Central American nation is one of the most biodiverse on the planet, housing over half a million species of flora and fauna in incredible settings.

To experience the "pura vida" or "pure life" lifestyle, visit the Osa Peninsula for remote rainforest exploration or the Papagayo area, with warm, inviting waters teeming with sea life.

Or experience the country aboard a cruise, which has recently become more accessible in Costa Rica. Thanks to a newly passed law, owners of vessels or superyacht charters are now allowed to cruise on Costa Rican waters for up to two years.

Hokkaido, Japan
Winter
wonderland

Hokkaido, in the northernmost region of Japan, draws travellers because of its beautiful landscapes, sumptuous food, and snow so pristine, it has its own name, Japow (short for "Japan powder").

Located at the foot of Mount Annupuri, Niseko is its most popular and established winter stop, featuring fantastic infrastructure, four connected ski resorts and a multitude of high-end chalets.

Just a short drive away are other world-class skiing spots, such as Rusutsu, Hokkaido's largest ski resort and a family-friendly winter destination, and Furano, which is well-loved for its traditional charm

Winter is not the only season to enjoy Hokkaido, however. Once the snow melts, all these locations show a different face – one filled with flower fields and rolling greenery, ideal for savouring on a long hike or leisurely cycle.

Malaysia Explore by train

Sometimes, it is good to rediscover what is in your backyard, especially when there are novel ways to experience it.

February marks the return of the Belmond Eastern & Oriental Express, which is restarting service with refurbished carriages with ornate marquetry, oriental silks and Malaysian embroidery.

A new menu has also been created by award-winning Taiwanese chef Andre Chiang.

The iconic train has a refreshed focus on Malaysia with two itineraries: Essence of Malaysia and Wild Malaysia. It stops at Penang, Langkawi and, for the first time, Taman Negara National Park.

While in Langkawi – an archipelago with resplendent beaches and ancient forests that serve as a habitat for more than 200 bird species – make a stop at The Datai Langkawi, one of South-east Asia's top resorts, which marked its 30th birthday in 2023.
